New! For puppies

Nutrition specially formulated to support skin health and help manage food and environmental sensitivities in puppies

Explaining Derm Complete to clients

Dogs experience environmental sensitivities more often than food sensitivities, but Derm Complete covers both so you can start to address the condition even before identifying the specific intolerance — a great nutrition choice for new derm patients.

One dietetic solution - for both types of intolerances

Environmental sensitivities

Features HistaGuard Complex which helps strengthen the skin's barrier against environmental allergens that may trigger future flare-ups

Contains an appropriate omega-6 to omega-3 fatty acid ratio to help manage inflammation

Food sensitivities

Made with egg as the single intact animal protein source (which makes up only 4% of food allergies in dogs¹)

Nutrition formulated to help reduce common sensitive symptoms such as licking, scratching, headshaking and skin redness

The science behind strengthened skin
